RICHARD P. "DICK" GARVER, SR.

1919 -

"ORGANIZER - INSTRUCTOR"

Dick Garver, born in Los Angeles, learned to shoot a bow through "trial and error" resulting in bad form and poor results. The process of learning to correct his bad habits started Dick on a lifetime avocation of teaching the proper methods of shooting a bow. Dick's publication of "Archery, Basic Techniques" sold over 20,000 copies and has helped many on the way to becoming proficient archers.

For over twenty-five years Dick was very active at the club region and state level and was one of the organizers of Archery, Inc. In helping to carry the archery story to the public, Dick acted as Master of Ceremonies for many exhibition teams that appeared in public and on television. He spent countless hours and a great deal of his own money helping Southern California archers fight anti-bowhunting forces. He was an instructor for beginning archers for the City of Los Angeles. He has been recognized by the Los Angeles City Council for outstanding achievement in teaching archery to youth and in 1969 received a "Gold Award" from the city's Parks and Recreation Departments for volunteering 1,658 hours of instruction to beginners in archery.

EDWIN "NUBBIE" PATE

PROMOTER - BOWHUNTER

Born in Kingston , North Carolina, "Nubbie" moved to Barstow, California in 1938. When he was seven years old, he lost his leg in an accident. At the age of nine, he learned to use one crutch in place of the missing leg. The loss of a leg did not stop "Nubbie" from excelling in football, volleyball, skating, boxing, swimming, baseball, hockey (on a skate) and tennis.

The famous Walt Wilhelm introduced "Nubbie" to bowhunting in 1942. "Nubbie" could not stand the fact that only a few bowhunters at a time enjoyed the sport. He wanted "everyone to have a good time". So in 1946 he put on the first "Desert Shoot", a shoot which included ten events. "Nubbie" put on a total of twelve tournaments from 1946 to 1957. "Nubbie's" first "Desert Shoot" attracted as many archers as attended the first NFAA National Tournament held at Allegan, Michigan.

In 1947, at the NFAA National Tournament held in Salt Lake City, Utah, "Nubbie" received the first special award ever given. "The NFAA Medal of Honor " for Sportsmanship. He attended ten NFAA Nationals and his famous "Tin Can Round" as an extra event at eight Nationals. He has been honored as "America's Most Popular Archer" with twenty-one Life Memberships.

In 1929 "Nubbie" was voted into the exclusive "Antelope One Shot Club" at Lander, Wyoming. In 1965 he was voted a Life Membership into this exclusive club. "Nubbie" was the first member to ever take an antelope with one arrow.

"Nubbie" has been interviewed by ABC's Wide World of Sports, United Press, United Press International, and MGN News. The news and press releases brought archery and bowhunting into nearly every home in the United States. Though "Nubbies" friends include Governors, Generals Entertainment Greats, Industrial Executives, his most satisfying accomplishment... "teaching a kid to shoot a bow and arrow."
